NEW QUESTION: 2

On the first day of service you are doing post-cut support for a Modular Messaging 3.1 for Exchange system that your associate installed. He indicated to you that all acceptance tests passed. Two users are complaining that their Message Waiting Indicator light does not work and that when they log on to their mailbox via the Telephone User Interface they have no messages. You have confirmed that you can leave each of them a message by calling their number from your mobile phone and leaving a message, and you see it arrive in Outlook. You ultimately fix the problems for both users, but surprisingly each one had a different solution.

Which two solutions did you use to fix the MWI and TUI problems? (Choose two.)

A. One user's mailbox was full and the Exchange administrator had Send Prohibit rules applied; when some messages were moved out of the Inbox it started working.

B. One user was using Outlook Web Access to access messages; when he opened his mailbox with a supported version of Outlook the user reported it was fixed.

C. One user had their Outlook set to deliver to Personal Folders; when this was set to deliver to the Inbox it started working.

D. One user had an Outlook rule that moved voice messages out of the Inbox into a Voice Messages folder; when the rule was disabled the new messages caused the proper behavior.
