NEW QUESTION: 4

What formula would you use if your project had a BAC of $450,000, you have spent $191,000, and you are 40 percent complete though you are supposed to be 55 percent done and management wants to know your project's schedule performance index?

- A. $450,000 - $477,500
- B. $180,000 - $247,500
- C. $180,000 / $247,500
- D. $($450,000 - $180,000) / ($450,000 - $191,000)$

Answer: C

Explanation:

The schedule performance index can be found by dividing the earned value by the planned value. In this instance, it is $\$180,000 / \$247,500$ for a value of .73. Schedule performance index (SPI) is the measure of schedule efficiency on a project. It is used in trend analysis to predict future performance. SPI is the ratio of earned value to planned value. The SPI is calculated based on the following formula: $\text{SPI} = \text{Earned Value (EV)} / \text{Planned Value (PV)}$ If the SPI value is greater than 1, it indicates better than expected performance, whereas if the value is less than 1, it shows poor performance. The SPI value of 1 indicates that the project is right on target.

Answer option D is incorrect. This is the schedule variance formula of EV-PV.

Answer option A is incorrect. This is the TCPI formula of 1.04 .

Answer option B is incorrect. This is the VAC formula with a result of $-$27,500$.
