NEW QUESTION: 3

You work as a project manager for TechWorld Inc. You are currently working on NHQ project in your company. This project will replace existing user software throughout the organization. Management has asked you to configure the SharePoint Server so that all users throughout the organization can view the content on your site. You want to make certain that the people who access your SharePoint site are at least domain members. What security setting can you use to configure the access so users can view the information on your SharePoint Server?

- A. Grant access to all NTUSERS.
- B. Grant access to all authenticated users.
- C. Enable Kerberos security.
- D. Simply enable the anonymous users in the SharePoint Server.

Answer: B

Explanation:

If you want all users within your domain to be able to view content on your site, grant access to all authenticated users. Answer option D is incorrect. This is not a valid answer for this scenario. Answer option A is incorrect. If you enable the anonymous users, you are not ensuring that the viewers of the server content are members of the domain. Answer option C is incorrect. Enabling Kerberos security is not relevant to assigning permissions to members of your domain.
