NEW QUESTION: 1

Which of the following best describes a full backup?

- A. All datafiles and control files
- B. All the used blocks in a datafile
- C. All datafiles, archive logs, and control files
- D. All datafiles of a database

Answer: B

Explanation:

From the training book:

"Full backup: Makes a copy of each data block that contains data and that is within the files being backed up."

"A full backup contains all used data file blocks."
"A full backup is different from a whole database backup."
Conclusion - it means that not all data files are backed up when you do full backup.
