SQL > FLASHBACK DATABASE TO TIMESTAMP (SYSDATE - 5/24);
```

Which two statements are true about this flashback scenario?

- A. The database must be opened in restricted mode for the flashback to succeed.
- B. The database must be opened with the RESETLOGS option after the flashback is complete.
- C. The database must use block change tracking for the flashback to succeed.
- D. The database must be opened in read-only mode to check if the database has been flashed back to the correct SCN.
- E. The database must have multiplexed redo logs for the flashback to succeed.
- F. The database must be MOUNTED for the flashback to succeed.

Answer: A,F

Explanation:

B: The target database must be mounted with a current control file, that is, the control file cannot be a backup or have been re-created.

D: You must OPEN RESETLOGS after running FLASHBACK DATABASE. If datafiles are not flashed back because they are offline, then the RESETLOGS may fail with an error.

Note:

*RMAN uses flashback logs to undo changes to a point before the target time or SCN, and then uses archived redo logs to recover the database forward to make it consistent. RMAN automatically restores from backup any archived logs that are needed.

*SCN: System Change Number

*FLASHBACK DATABASE to One Hour Ago: Example

The following command flashes the database by 1/24 of a day, or one hour: RMAN> FLASHBACK DATABASE TO TIMESTAMP (SYSDATE-1/24);
