Need for AAA Services

Security for user access to the network and the ability to dynamically define a user's profile to gain access to network resources has a legacy dating back to asynchronous dial access. AAA network security services provide the primary framework through which a network administrator can set up access control on network points of entry or network access servers, which is usually the function of a router or access server.

Authentication identifies a user; authorization determines what that user can do; and accounting monitors the network usage time for billing purposes.

AAA information is typically stored in an external database or remote server such as

RADIUS or TACACS+.

The information can also be stored locally on the access server or router. Remote security servers, such as RADIUS and TACACS+, assign users specific privileges by associating attribute-value (AV) pairs, which define the access rights with the appropriate user. All authorization methods must be defined through AAA.
