Which feature can you use to monitor traffic on a switch by replicating it to another port or ports on the same switch?

- A. SPAN
- B. the ICMP Echo IP SLA
- C. traceroute
- D. copy run start

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Explanation:

A source port, also called a monitored port, is a switched or routed port that you monitor for network traffic analysis. In a single local SPAN session or RSPAN source session, you can monitor source port traffic, such as received (Rx), transmitted (Tx), or bidirectional (both). The switch supports any number of source ports (up to the maximum number of available ports on the switch) and any number of source VLANs.

A source port has these characteristics:

It can be any port type, such as EtherChannel, Fast Ethernet, Gigabit Ethernet, and so forth.

It can be monitored in multiple SPAN sessions.

It cannot be a destination port.

Each source port can be configured with a direction (ingress, egress, or both) to monitor. For EtherChannel sources, the monitored direction applies to all physical ports in the group. Source ports can be in the same or different VLANs. For VLAN SPAN sources, all active ports in the source VLAN are included as source ports.

NEW QUESTION: 4

Your Hadoop cluster contains nodes in three racks. Choose which scenario results if you leave the dfs.hosts property in the NameNode's configuration file empty (blank)?

A. The NameNode will update dfs.hosts property to include machines running the DataNode daemon on the next NameNode reboot or with a dfsadmin -refreshNodes.

B. Any machine running the DataNode daemon can immediately join the cluster.

C. Presented with a blank dfs.hosts property, the NameNode will permit DataNodes specified in mapred.hosts to join the cluster.

D. No new can be added to the cluster until you specify them in the dfs.hosts file.

Answer: D

Explanation:

The dfs.hosts and mapred.hosts properties allow an administrator to supply a file containing an approved list of hostnames. If a machine is not in this list, it will be denied access to the cluster. This can be used to enforce policies regarding which teams of developers have access to which MapReduce sub-clusters. These are configured in exactly the same way as the excludes file.
