NEW QUESTION: 1

Your company has a network that has 100 servers. A server named Server1 is configured as a file server.

Server1 is connected to a SAN and has 15 logical drives.

You want to automatically run a data archiving script if the free space on any of the logical drives is below 30 percent.

You need to automate the script execution.

You create a new Data Collector Set. What should you do next?

- A. Add the Performance counter alert.
- B. Add the Performance counter data collector.
- C. Add the Event trace data collector.
- D. Add the System configuration information data collector.

Answer: A

Explanation:

You can create a custom Data Collector Set containing performance counters and configure alert activities based on the performance counters exceeding or dropping below limits you define. After creating the Data Collector Set, you must configure the actions the system will take when the alert criteria are met.

NEW QUESTION: 2

Someone has recommended a new client to you and you know he is into online gaming and you are almost certain he will want to set up an online gaming site which will require a database service that provides fast and predictable performance with seamless scalability. Which of the following AWS databases would be best suited to an online gaming site?

- A. Amazon Redshift
- B. Amazon SimpleDB
- C. Amazon ElastiCache
- D. Amazon DynamoDB

Answer: D

Explanation:

Amazon DynamoDB is a fully managed NoSQL database service that provides fast and predictable performance with seamless scalability. You can use Amazon DynamoDB to create a database table that can store and retrieve any amount of data, and serve any level of request traffic. Amazon DynamoDB automatically spreads the data and traffic for the table over a sufficient number of servers to handle the request capacity specified by the customer and the amount of data stored, while maintaining consistent and fast performance.

NEW QUESTION: 3

The British Standard 7799/ISO Standard 17799 discusses cryptographic policies. It states, An organization should develop a policy on its use of cryptographic controls for protection of its information When developing a policy, the following should be considered: (Which of the following items would most likely NOT be listed?)

- A. Roles and responsibilities
- B. The management approach toward the use of cryptographic controls across the organization
- C. The approach to key management, including methods to deal with the recovery of encrypted information in the case of lost, compromised or damaged keys
- D. The encryption schemes to be used

Answer: D

Explanation:

A policy is a general statement of management's intent, and therefore, a policy would not specify the encryption scheme to be used. The other answers are appropriate for a cryptographic policy.

The general standards document is BSI ISO/IEC 17799:2000, BS 7799-

I: 2000, Information technology-Code of practice for information security management, British Standards Institution, London, UK. The standard is intended to provide a comprehensive set of controls comprising best practices in information security. ISO refers to the International Organization for Standardization and IEC is the International Electrotechnical Commission. These two entities form the system for worldwide standardization.

The main chapter headings of the standard are:

Security Policy

Organizational Security

Asset Classification and Control

Personnel Security

Physical and Environmental Security

Communications and Operations Management

Access Control

Systems Development and Maintenance

Business Continuity Management

Compliance

NEW QUESTION: 4

Service Consumer A sends a request message with an authentication token to Service A, but before the message reaches Service A, it is intercepted by Service Agent A (1). Service Agent A validates the security credentials and also validates whether the message is compliant with Security Policy A.

If either validation fails, Service Agent A rejects the request message and writes an error log to Database A (2A). If both validations succeed, the request message is sent to Service A (2B).

Service A retrieves additional data from a legacy system (3) and then submits a request message to Service B. Before arriving at Service B, the request message is intercepted by Service Agent B (4) which validates its compliance with Security Policy SIB. Then Service Agent C (5) which validates its compliance with Security Policy B.

If either of these validations fails, an error message is sent back to Service A.

that then forwards it to Service Agent A so that it the error can be logged in Database A (2A). If both validations succeed, the request message is sent to Service B (6). Service B subsequently stores the data from the message in Database B (7).

Service A and Service Agent A reside in Service Inventory A. Service B and Service Agents B and C reside in Service Inventory B.

Security Policy SIB is used by all services that reside in Service Inventory B.

Service B can also be invoked by other service from within Service Inventory B.

Request messages sent by these service consumers must also be compliant with Security Policies SIB and B.

New services are being planned for Service Inventory A.

To accommodate service inventory-wide security requirements, a new security policy (Security Policy SIA) has been created. Compliance to Security Policy SIA will be required by all services within Service Inventory A.

Some parts of Security Policy A and Security Policy SIB are redundant with Security Policy SIA.

How can the Policy Centralization pattern be correctly applied to Service Inventory A without changing the message exchange requirements of the service composition?

A. Due to the amount of overlap among Security Policy A, Security Policy SIA, and Security Policy SIB, the Policy Centralization pattern cannot be correctly applied without changing the message exchange requirements of the service composition.

B. The parts of Security Policy A and Security Policy SIB that are redundant with Security Policy SIA are removed so that there is no overlap among these three security policies. A new service agent is introduced into Service Inventory A to validate compliance to the new Security Policy SIA prior to messages being validated by Service Agent A.

Another new service agent is introduced into Service Inventory B to validate compliance to the new Security Policy SIA prior to messages being validated by Service Agents B and C.

C. The parts of Security Policy A that are redundant with Security Policy SIA are removed so that there is no overlap between these two security policies. A new service agent is introduced into Service Inventory A to validate compliance to the new Security Policy SIA prior to messages being validated by Service Agent A.

D. The parts of Security Policy A and Security Policy SIB that are redundant with Security Policy SIA are removed so that there is no overlap among these three security policies. Service Agent A is updated so that it can validate messages for compliance with both Security Policy A and Security Policy SIA. Service Agent B is updated so that it can validate messages for compliance with both Security Policy SIA and Security Policy SIB.

Service Agent C remains unchanged.
